RECESS FOR STEEL TALKS ANTICIPATED

By NORMAN WALKER
NEW YORK (AP)—Steel negotiators were expected to recess weeklong preliminary contract talks today for a few days' respite to digest economic arguments exchanged this week.

The industry-union labor battle has gotten off to a fast start with both sides asking federal government investigations of each other's tactics.

It was indicated, however, that much of the bickering so far has been the normal posturing of two protagonists getting into a fight rather than any real barrier in the negotiations.

Words flew Thursday in the separate calls for the government to keep watch on the rival tactics.

First, the union demanded that the Justice department and National Labor Relations Board probe for possible antitrust and labor law violations in what the union called company profit-pooling and lockout plans in case of a strike.

Denying a management conspiracy, steel producers said that if anything needs federal investigation it is "the concentration of power in the union which is what gives rise to the problems of (industry) self-protection."

Later, R. Conrad Cooper, chief negotiator for the U. S. Steel Corp., and Union President David J. McDonald agreed that more progress would be made in negotiations before current contracts expire June 30 if "we work at it privately and diligently."

Cooper said Wednesday that the steel firms were considering plans to combat any "divide and conquer" strike strategy the union might employ. Cooper denied an assertion by Union Counsel Arthur J. Goldberg that the industry was considering a profit-sharing plan in event of a partial strike.

Among specific devices under study by the industry, Cooper said, is a mutual aid pact of the type adopted last fall by six major airlines. Under this agreement, lines grounded by strikes receive the extra revenues made

Jersey's Sunday Closing Law Found Unconstitutional

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Superior Court Judge Everett M. Scherer today declared the state Sunday closing law unconstitutional.

The judge found that the specific exclusion of Atlantic Cape May and Ocean counties from the provisions of the law rendered it invalid.

The separate classification given by the Legislature to the three shore counties was found "illusory" and their exclusion from the provisions of the law was called arbitrary and discriminatory.

"It is fundamental in our concept of constitutional government that there be equality of treatment for all persons without favor," Scherer said.

The court said that the public policy of the state is to prohibit all worldly employment on Sunday, except works of necessity and charity, and that the courts cannot question the means selected for implementing that policy so long as they have a reasonable basis.

Deputy Sheriffs Clear Paths Past Picket Lines in Erie

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Reinforced details of sheriff's deputies and city police today cleared a path through shouting pickets to enable some 40 or more Erie Resistor Corp. employees to go to work at one of the company's four strike-bound plants.

Eleven men and one woman were taken from the picket lines when they refused to obey police orders to move away from the plastics division gate. They were charged with obstructing justice and were held in $500 bond each for a hearing May 19. Another woman picket was arrested on a malicious mischief charge filed by a non-striker who claimed her car had been scratched.

Peace and Happiness for All Is Wish of Truman on 75th Birthday Anniversary

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman is 75 years old today. He voiced a wish for peace and happiness for all the people of the United States.

The expression came as newsmen, warbling "Happy Birthday, Dear Harry" in more or less tuneless fashion, presented him with a surprise birthday cake before he'd even had breakfast.

Obviously pleased, Truman mustered up two healthy puffs and blew out the candles. He had the crowd of reporters and photographers sign a card accompanying the cake and then proudly took it upstairs at his hotel to show Mrs. Truman.

When asked if he had a birthday wish, he said: "I wish for peace and happiness for all the people of the United States."

He also said he wished for "another boy in Margaret's family." He referred to his daughter, Mrs. Clifton Daniel, who is expecting her second child.

True to his reputation as one of the walking-talkingest former presidents the country ever had, Truman then set out on his morning stroll.

Asked if he thought he had made any mistakes in his 75 years, Truman said: "I made plenty of them. I'd be sprouting wings if I hadn't. Nobody can live without making mistakes. The only thing you can do is try to remedy them."

He said he had lived a "hectic life but a happy one," and that he wouldn't change any of it if he could. He subsequently amended this to make one exception: "I'd get married sooner." Truman was 35 when wed.

Tonight, Truman will eat a $100 fillet mignon dinner and address a coast-to-coast birthday party.

Festivities in 16 cities are being linked by closed circuit television. There will be about 50,000 guests.

The ex-president, spotlighted on the flower-decked dais of the Waldorf-Astoria's grand ballroom, is going to see and hear plenty.

Included in the 90-minute program is a film biography of his career, "Man of Decision," produced by Dore Schary; appearances by a stellar array including Jimmy Durante, Jack Benny and Danny Kaye; and speeches from Boston by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) and from Chicago by Adlai Stevenson, twice Democratic candidate for the presidency.

The bill of fare at the Waldorf-Astoria includes lobster bisque laced with brandy; fillet mignon, individual ice cream cakes at each table and a seven-tier cake ablaze with 75 candles.

Four Hurt in Accident To Loaded School Bus

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—An auto rammed into a loaded school bus at a railroad crossing near Connelville Thursday, slightly injuring four persons.

Mrs. Agnes Coughenour, 27, of Dunbar, R. D. 1, the driver of the car, was in fair condition at Connelville State Hospital.

Mrs. Coughenour's son, Robert, 8; bus driver Earl Miller, 54; and one of the pupils were treated and released.

The bus was transporting 14 eighth graders to the nearby Trotter School for special scholastic examinations.

led the squad of 20 officers at the plant, decided not to make a similar attempt at other gates where larger picket forces were on duty. About 100 pickets were at the 12th and Wechsler St. gate when police moved in shortly after 8 a. m. More than 300 were at the other gates.

Meanwhile a hearing has been set for tomorrow in Erie County Court on a company petition contending that the picketing is in violation of a court injunction issued last month.

Sheriff Coates said he has not received any reply to his request to Gov. David L. Lawrence yesterday for additional state police to help maintain order.

Three Clearfield Men Lose Lives in Collision on Hill

ST. MARYS, Pa. (AP)—Collision of an auto and a tractor-trailer killed three Clearfield County men Thursday on steep Byrnedale Hill about 12 miles south of here.

The dead, all occupants of the car, were Atty. Charles E. Chase, 31, of Clearfield; Harry H. Robbins Sr. of Clearfield R.D. 2; and his son, Harry Jr., about 30, of Clearfield. The father and son operated a saw mill near Clearfield.

The truck driver, Leonard L. Priest, 21, of Emporium, was treated for minor bruises and arm cuts.

The truck, loaded with lumber, was traveling down steep, winding Route 255. The car, driven by the elder Robbins, was headed up the hill.

State police were investigating to determine the cause of the crash. Persons at the scene said part of the truck's cargo of 2-by-4 boards was scattered along the road for a mile. The collision occurred near the bottom of the hill.

Chase's body was found in a gully about 100 feet from the wreckage.

The three men were en route to St. Marys for a workmen's compensation hearing.

Chase was a clerk to the late Justice John C. Arnold of the State Supreme Court in 1956-58. He also was chairman of the Clearfield Chapter of the American Red Cross and formerly was commander of the Clearfield American Legion Post.

More Trouble Is Feared for City of Constantine

By ANDREW BOROWIEC
CONSTANTINE, Algeria (AP)—There is no sign in this tense, heavily patrolled city of the Algerian peace that French President De Gaulle says is in sight.

Mobs of French and Algerian youths clashed in Constantine's streets on two days this week, and more trouble is feared. Young French rioters have demanded the firing squad for De Gaulle, who was their hero a year ago.

The hope for peace seems equally dim when one talks with Algerian rebel leaders in neighboring Tunisia, the rebels' chief training and supply base.

The Algerians vow to continue their 4½-year war for independence from France. Their organization appears to be getting stronger.

Recent talks with leaders of the Nationalists indicate they have abandoned hope that Western pressure will force France to make a peace suitable to the rebels. They appear ready to take arms and assistance from the Communist bloc.

Premier Ferhat Abbas and Information Minister Mohamed Yazid of the Cairo-based Algerian government hint that they would back down from demands for full independence and be content with internal autonomy. But the French minority in Algeria probably would rise up at even that concession.

De Gaulle in a speech at Bourges, France, Thursday declared:

"Without setting a date, without..."

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will refuse to go to a summit conference if the Russians carry out their threat to turn East Berlin over to the East German Communists.

He will take the same stand if the Soviets sign a separate peace treaty with puppet East Germany.

Any such one-sided Soviet action in the next few weeks undoubtedly would wreck the Big Four foreign ministers conference due to begin in Geneva Monday.

This American attitude became known authoritatively a few hours before Secretary of State Christian A. Herter's scheduled take-off for pre-conference strategy talks with the British and French foreign ministers.

Herter himself already has served notice that the Russians must match concession for concession to end the danger of war.

Even as Herter arranged to leave, the three Allies were reported already arguing with the Soviets over where to sit to discuss the German deadlock.

In Geneva, Soviet diplomats insisted the talks take place around a round table. Western diplomats were holding out for a square table.

Despite pressure for a summit talk regardless of progress in Geneva, Eisenhower was reported insisting the foreign ministers first must make concrete gains in easing the Berlin crisis and other German problems.

This means, informants said, that mere agreement at Geneva on a time, place and agenda for a summit meeting "would not be enough to convince him that a conference with Russia's Nikita Khrushchev would be worth while."

Cop Killer Hangs As Group Mills at Gates in Protest

LONDON (AP)—Ronald Marwood, a 25-year-old cop killer, was hanged today in Pentonville Prison while hundreds of Britons milled about the gates protesting the execution.

The crowd outside stood an all-night vigil, and inside the jail prisoners rioted for half an hour demanding that the hanging be called off.

The execution took place only 200 yards from the home of the man convicted of murdering a policeman—one of the few crimes that can get the death penalty under Britain's modified capital punishment law.

The condemned man's pretty 20-year-old wife Rosalie waited in an apartment only 200 yards from the prison and read over and over again the last letter from her husband.

She had collected almost alone more than 10,000 signatures to a petition seeking clemency. Another plea came from 150 members of Parliament—including 25 per cent of the members of the House of Commons—who opposed the death penalty for Marwood.

Levinson Transaction Interests Trade Paper

Prominent in retail merchandising circles throughout the entire country Sam Fineberg, columnist for the famous Women's Wear publication, a trade exchange paper, arrived in Warren this afternoon to interview the management of Levinson Brothers department store.

Fineberg authors a column, "From Where I Sit" and has expressed keen interest in the business transaction whereby Levinson Brothers purchased the Metzger-Wright store from Allied Stores. A full account of the important interview will be featured in Monday's Times-Mirror and there is little doubt but what Mr. Fineberg's attention on the local scene will attract attention from the rest of the nation.

Patrons continue to flock through the department store's spectacular "out with the old, in with the new" sale which continues this evening, tomorrow and throughout the week to come. The clearance of most items paves the way for initial modernization plans and fresh, new, better merchandise.

SECOND RANKING CIVILIAN IN PENTAGON SINCE 1957 PASSES AWAY SUDDENLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald A. Quarles, engineer-businessman and second ranking civilian in the Pentagon since 1957, died unexpectedly today. He was 64.

A chauffeur sent to Quarles' home to drive him to an early morning television broadcast was unable to rouse him. A relative and officials were summoned quickly and efforts were made to revive him. Apparently he had been dead for some hours, however.

The cause of death was not immediately established.

Quarles was alone in his home at the time. Mrs. Quarles was in Chicago. He had attended a dinner Thursday night and friends said he showed no sign of illness when he left about 11 p. m.

Quarles frequently had been acting civilian chief during absences of Secretary Neil H. McElroy. He had been mentioned as a possible successor to McElroy, who has announced he is leaving late this year.

If McElroy should go ahead with his plans to quit, one name in speculation will be that of Wilfred J. McNeil, assistant secretary of defense specializing in money matters. McNeil came to the Pentagon in 1948 under the late Secretary James Forrestal.

Another name in speculation will be that of Fred Seaton, a former assistant secretary of defense and now secretary of the interior.

President Eisenhower, notified of Quarles' death, ordered flags on federal buildings flown at half staff.

The President issued a statement expressing shock and "a keen sense of personal loss." On behalf of himself and Mrs. Eisenhower, he extended sympathy to Mrs. Quarles and the family.

Quarles was a personable man, slightly built at about 140 pounds, with graying hair. He dressed conservatively and looked younger than his years. He had been well received at the Capitol where he was due for another appearance today as a witness before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee for the administration's defense budget.

He had a quick humor and wit, one of the understatement type, which helped him over any rough spots in dealings with such committees.

Quarles was an official of the Western Electric Co. and a resident of New Jersey when he entered government service.

He was vice president of Western Electric and president of Sandia Corp., a subsidiary which (Turn to Page Ten)

Hitting the Moon Now Would Be Only Stunt

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The nation's space chief says the United States could hit the moon with a missile right now, but it would be a stunt: The missile would be demolished by the impact and wouldn't be able to send back information.

"This is not the business for stunts," said Dr. T. Keith Glennan, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Speaking at a luncheon of the World Affairs Council of Philadelphia Thursday, Glennan said it was his opinion a man won't be landed on the moon within the next 10 years.

Hometown Urges Missing Minnesota Family To Return

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Although their forgiving home town wants them back, a young family that disappeared from Minnesota four months ago plans to stay in Nevada until the father works out his financial problems.

Debt-ridden Earl Zrust, 30, his wife and their five children were found in Reno Thursday by a finance company which repossessed their automobile. The family had left Silver Lake, Minn., without a trace.

They came to Reno April 21 after living in three California communities—Sacramento, San Luis Obispo and Pismo Beach—where Zrust worked as a brick layer. He is working now on a school project at Loyton, Calif., 50 miles north of Reno.

He was upset when met by reporters and seemed on the verge of tears. Finally he commented: "I want to go back when I get

Gov. Williams Has New Proposal to Meet Cash Crisis

By ROGER LANE

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams today asked state lawmakers to hear a new proposal for solving Michigan's cash crisis that left 26,000 state workers unpaid Thursday and threatened the state's public school system.

His request to address a joint legislative session required House and Senate approval. Neither chamber acted immediately.

The Democratic governor's announcement came after House defeat of a Senate-approved Republican bill for a one-cent increase in the sales tax, making it four cents.

The governor and Legislature have been at loggerheads for months over rival plans for curbing state money woes, with Williams advocating a personal income tax and Republicans plugging for the sales tax increase.

A bill which would provide an immediate $3 million dollars in emergency state treasury relief is bound up in the deadlock. Williams repeatedly has demanded its passage. The GOP firmly has insisted approval will come only on prior acceptance of the sales tax bill.

Michigan's financial dilemma stems from a drop in tax revenue during the 1958 recession and an increase in expenditures, mainly for unemployment compensation.

Tipped-Off Police Foil Robbery of Banker - Socialite

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—Tipped-off police hid out of the way Thursday night while burglars robbed almost a million dollars in gems and furs from the hotel apartment of banker-socialite Mrs. Mary G. Roebbing.

Then, the burglary complete, detectives arrested two of the gang as they stepped out of the hotel elevator laden with the loot. A third was arrested outside in a getaway car.

New York cops had been tailing the burglars since Feb. 2 and had followed them here by car Thursday afternoon.

Detectives waited patiently while the burglars went about their business in Mrs. Roebbing's lavish apartment in the Hotel Hildebrecht.

Police said the men got in by (Turn to Page Ten)

NEW YORK (AP)—New York is a beautiful town.

Right now after a hard spring and a winter so stern its icicles stuck out like cactus thorns, eight million New Yorkers listen to the drum of revival.

In the warm, bright air, Manhattan turns toward tomorrow with a yawn of sureness.

It is wonder all over. Now you don't know where the next bud or smile or traffic ticket will bloom from.

The sun, emerging from weeks of clouds, breaks out dark glasses and decreases ten times ten million freckles.

The magic moment of difference has come. The policeman gives an unfinished lecture. Traffic goes more slowly than usual because this is a day when everybody is going to be later than usual and not mind it.

At this time of the year, New York gives you the feeling of a bubble coming out of a bottle.

The town has an ever-renewable champagne excitement.

New York is the place where George Washington was sworn in as president and gruff Mark Twain growled about his chow and put out the "welcome mat" for mysterious strangers from heaven.

New York is a seedbed of talent, known or unknown.

New York is a place of adventure to strangers. Millions journey around the world to see it.

New York is as colloquial as the smallest country town, able with its gossip to stir mighty echoes.

New York is the world's greatest pasture landscape for dreamers, a pasture beyond individual ownership.

New York is the most open and hospitable municipality in the land. It's the kind of place where the first thing a guy wants to do when he comes here is to bring in a relative.

New York is the only city in the world which has a running race over whether it can tear itself down faster than it can build itself up.

Radiation From Tests Less Than Normal Exposure

WASHINGTON (AP)—The general advisory committee of the Atomic Energy Commission says that average worldwide radiation resulting from all atomic bomb tests so far is less than 5 per cent of the normal radiation in the air.

The group stated also that the fallout radiation is "less than 5 per cent of the estimated average radiation exposure of the American public to X-rays for medical purposes."

The statement was released in the third day of hearings before a Senate-Atomic Energy subcommittee on radioactive fallout.

It was approved unanimously by the nine committee members. They are civilian scientists and engineers. Warren C. Johnson, vice president of the University of Chicago, is chairman.

One AEC scientist testified Wednesday that, when all the fallout from tests already conducted has reached the earth, radiation from bomb debris will reach 10 per cent of the maximum permissible level set by an international radiation committee.

The evidence brought in so far prompted Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) to say the hearings have made clearer than ever the need for success of efforts to halt or curtail weapons tests.

Take a look at the West hand only. The game is duplicate and you open one heart with no one vulnerable. North doubles, East bids two hearts, South two spades and you jump to four hearts. North bids four spades and it is passed around to you.

What do you do? Marshall Miles of San Bernardino doubled and opened his singleton ace of clubs. North put down the dummy and thanked him for his nice lead.

Marshall replied, "I wasn't trying to help you" and proceeded to set the hand three tricks. It wasn't difficult. He simply led a diamond to his

Son of U.S. Air Hero At West Point on His Own

MEDIA, Pa. (AP)—Corky Kelly, son of the first U.S. air hero of World War II, is going to West Point—pretty much under his own steam. His mother made the first announcement Thursday.

He might have had the appointment by special dispensation. That would have fulfilled a request made by President Roosevelt 10 days after Pearl Harbor and seven days after the boy's father, Capt. Colm P. Kelly Jr., was killed on a Pacific bombing mission.

But Corky chose to do it the hard way — by competitive examination.

For winning the coveted appointment in this manner President Eisenhower, in a congratulatory letter, praised him highly, adding that a splendid career of service to his country seemed in prospect.

At the time his father was killed, Corky—Collin III—was less than 2 years old.

In the letter, President Roosevelt asked whomever might be in the White House in 1956, he consider the boy for appointment to the academy. Roosevelt spoke of the boy as "a young American of goodly heritage."

The letter went to the national archives for safekeeping until 1956.

News of Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Frank Sinatra is sore at MGM because the studio won't send his new film to Hawaii on location.

The picture is "Sacred and Profane," formerly "Never So Few," and it was originally set for shooting in Burma. Then it was Hawaii. Now the jungle warfare will be waged on the MGM backlot.

"I'm against it," the singer remarked. "The location in Hawaii would only be 10 days. But the production department says it will add $400,000 to the budget and they won't go it. I think it's worth paying that to get authentic flavor."

Many will agree. "Bridge On The River Kwai" also could have been filmed on the MGM backlot, but it wouldn't have been the same picture. There's a flavor to authentic locales that the best of Hollywood's craftsmen can't duplicate.

Sinatra is a real fan of Gina Lollobrigida, who co-stars with him in the film. She and her husband came to Las Vegas for 24 hours as Frank's guests, and her large eyes got even larger.

The town is amazed at the success of "The Shaggy Dog," which may be Walt Disney's biggest grosser. The odd part is that television could have had the property. Walt wanted to do a series with his Mickey Mouse club graduates, and one of the sequences had a boy turning into a dog. ABC turned down the idea, and the dog story turned into a feature.

Wall may be making his first trip to Moscow next month. His 360-degree movie process, Circa, rama, which was the hit of the Brussels fair, is opening in Moscow. Wall is trying to hitch a ride in Vice President Nixon's jet.

Fugitive May Be on Trail of $13,500 Loot

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Police said today the search for James F. Jenkins, who broke out of Moyamensing prison a week ago with two cellmates, may be a long one if the fugitive gets hold of $13,500 in missing bank loot.

Jenkins, 37-year-old Levittown, Pa., welder, was being held in Moyamensing on a bank holdup charge.

He is the only one of the three escapees still at large. One John John McKelvey, 19, Philadelphia, was recaptured less than two hours after he squeezed through a hole chopped in the cell ceiling and fled.

The third man, Rufus Hawkins, 26, Philadelphia, was arrested early Wednesday by FBI agents.

MOTHER'S DAY

The American Mothers Committee has announced selection of Mrs. Jennie Loitman Barron, a Massachusetts Superior Court Judge, who has three daughters, as American Mother of 1959.

In passing, it's worth while to read and ponder the qualifications for the award of American Mother of the Year: First, she must be a successful mother. Second, she must be an active member of a religious body. Third, she must embody the traits of courage, cheerfulness, patience, affection, kindness, understanding and homemaking ability. Fourth, she must exemplify in her life the precepts of the Golden Rule. Fifth, she must be active in public affairs. Sixth, she must be qualified to represent the mothers of America in all responsibilities attached to her role as mother of the year.

In accepting the award in the presence of a group of distinguished friends, Mrs. Barron says: "I've won many degrees in my life but I still consider the most important degree any woman can have is the degree of Mrs."

It was Mrs. Ann Jarvis, of Grafton, W. Va., who died in Philadelphia in May 1905, who originated the idea for an annual observance of Mother's Day.

Her daughter, Ann Jarvis, a spinster, in 1909, suggested to John Wanamaker, the great Philadelphia merchant, that there be annually a national observance of a day honoring mothers. Another was L. L. Loar, a Grafton, W. Va., merchant, who was superintendent of Sunday School at Andrews, W. Va., where the mother of Ann Jarvis had taught a class for 20 years.

She suggested to Loar that the church her mother served so long might wish to take part in the first public observance of Mother's Day on May 10, 1908. As a result Loar conducted probably the first service on that first Mother's Day, explaining Miss Jarvis's aims to the 407 persons attending Sunday School. Miss Jarvis sent 500 white carnations, her mother's favorite flower, and they were distributed. Later that morning motherhood was the sermon topic at Andrews and in most churches in Philadelphia. After the first year the idea spread rapidly. But it was not a happy growth for Miss Jarvis, who spent most of her lifetime seeking to keep the day free of commercialism.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter—with small hope and a deliberate diplomatic secretiveness—sets out today for the Western foreign ministers meeting with the Soviets at Geneva next Monday.

Thus will begin a series of talks which grew out of Premier Nikita Khrushchev's demand last November that the Big Three Western Allies get their troops out of West Berlin by May 27. If the talks blow up, there may be serious trouble ahead.

It seems too much to hope for any agreements at Geneva. Herter himself said in a radio-television talk to the nation Thursday night:

"I do not go to Geneva with great expectations. Negotiating with the Soviets does not warrant much optimism."

But if the American, British and French foreign ministers can get along with the Soviets at Geneva without vituperation or propaganda, there may be a summit meeting later this year between President Eisenhower and Khrushchev.

Herter explained—but only in the most general terms, leaving details vague—what he and the other Westerners would propose to Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko who is, in effect, only a messenger boy for Khrushchev.

But what happens if the Soviets balk? Will the West yield some ground? Perhaps. But it was at this point that Herter deliberately created a diplomatic fog, either because the Allies are not agreed on what to yield or because they want to keep the Soviets guessing.

"We will not deviate from our basic principles," Herter said. "But we are willing to negotiate about their applications, provided that concessions from us are matched by equivalent concessions from the Soviet Union."

Such concessions already have gained the diplomatic description of "fall-back positions" if the Soviets won't buy the initial demands but show signs of talking business of the West yields on some points.

One of the unhappy features of this meeting—before it starts—is the possibility, much speculated upon recently, that the Allies may be fairly well agreed on their initial demands but not at all on Rare, Medium or Well Done?

Here and There

If the official adoption by our state legislature of a 'week', or its proclamation by the governor of our state, has any significance, it is that of causing us to stop and reflect for a moment on the subject chosen to be honored by such an observance. "Pennsylvania Nurse Week," proclaimed for May 10-18 by Governor Lawrence, challenges our thinking about a profession that we only too often take for granted. With the progress of medicine, and the increasing use of hospital and medical facilities by citizens from all walks of life, the demands we make upon the nurse are always on the increase. We assume that she will be there to supply the nursing care we need. Or rather, we do so until the day comes when we suddenly realize that she isn't available, that there aren't enough nurses currently practicing to fill the demand. Nurses today are facing a great struggle. Their education has equipped them to give their patients devoted care, whose value is enhanced by their skill and thoughtfulness, their scientific knowledge and their solicitude. Their reward comes with the recovery of the patient around whom their world is built. Today we find the conscientious nurse harassed by her frequent inability to give the calibre of nursing care she wishes to, due to understaffing in crowded hospitals. In extending her services to increasingly large numbers of patients, the nurse deprives herself both of the satisfaction that comes from giving the highest quality of professional service, and that of sharing in the patient's recovery that she helped to speed. Perhaps the most fitting way to observe Pennsylvania Nurse Week would be for all of us to inform ourselves, conscientiously and thoughtfully, about the nursing conditions in our own communities. The health services that help the community to battle disease are, in effect, the property of the community. With this in mind, the responsibility of the citizens of the community clearly involves their knowledge of the conditions that surround these essential services. How much do we know about our nurses? We may be familiar with the private duty nurse who we have engaged for special service, but how much do we know about the conditions of nurses working in hospitals, the staff nurses whose white shod feet race from one corridor to the other all day or all night, trying to keep pace with the flashing lights signaling endless patient needs? How much do we know of our school nurses or our public health nurses? Are we sure that the dedication of the nurse to her work and her patients has not led us to take for granted conditions that we would not ordinarily condone? Conditions which would cause other workers to leave their posts until improvements are brought about? We expect nurses to be concerned about our welfare. We rely on the knowledge that her professional skill will be devoted to our needs when sickness strikes. If we are to accept this dedication, and benefit from her work, her devotion and her skills, we on our part have the responsibility of making certain that the conditions under which these skills are utilized are worthy of the standards of the service given.

Action toward realization of the proposed U. S. Government conservation and wildlife preserve as well as a recreational and research Training Center on the former Biddle property at Irvine is expected to gain momentum at the beginning of a new fiscal year. The experimental phase of the operation is in the survey and planning stage and some work has been done on the Buckaloon campground and recreation area. Initial renovation of the two small stone houses, which will eventually become residence and office building facilities has started. Plans to restore the style and physical characteristics of the 30-room mansion extends into the future. The 500-acre estate was given to the U. S. Government last year. Congressman Leon H. Gavin in December, 1958, pledged his support of the project which will require an estimated $250,000 in federal funds.

A reminder that this is "Soil Stewardship Week" arrives in the form of a copy of a release from Donald A. Williams, administrator U. S. Soil Conservation Service in Washington. He points out that the growth of Soil Stewardship Week in the last two decades has amazed many people and pleased even more. He says: "It should not surprise anyone who likes to farm, ranch, garden, putter around his flower beds and lawn, camp or hunt or fish in beautiful surroundings. All these bring forcibly to mind our dependence on the soil. Even if we only eat food, wear clothes and like nice furniture and houses, we live from the soil. Our well-being rests with the 'stewards of the soil.' Farmers, ranchers, and backyard gardeners deal with the mystery of life—the life of plants, of animals and of the soil itself. For soil is a living thing. That must be why so many farmers and ranchers 'just wouldn't do anything else.' That must be why backyard gardeners can completely lose themselves in their hobby. Once it 'gets you' work with the soil is entrancing, uplifting, inspiring. It has a strange benefit. Some call it healthful exercise. Some merely call it fun. Some say it is relaxing. Others also see a spiritual. (Turn to Page Nine)

How to Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

(© 1958; By The Chicago Tribune)

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

THE ENZYMATIC AGE

A painter was admitted to a hospital with severe abdominal pain. His physician was undecided whether he had a ruptured appendix or peptic ulcer or acute inflammation of the pancreas. A sample of his blood was sent to the laboratory for a serum amylase test. It was elevated, indicating acute pancreatitis. This enzyme test probably saved the man's life because pancreatitis is best treated medically without surgery.

In another part of the hospital, physicians were trying to determine whether a young executive was developing a heart attack or a lung clot. Symptoms were not typical of coronary thrombosis and it was too early to expect changes in the electrocardiogram. The blood was tested for another enzyme—transaminase. It was elevated, which meant heart involvement.

The importance of these tests demonstrates why enzymes are the conversation piece of the day. Enzymes are ferments formed by living cells. They speed up the transformation of certain chemical substances into others. They play a prominent role in breaking down complicated food substances into simpler forms that the body can use.

Enzymes are not new but current interest centers on the various roles they are playing. Different cells contain different enzymes that are released into the blood when the cells are broken down by disease, infection, or lack of blood. Amylase, for example, exists in the pancreas and when this gland is inflamed, a large amount escapes into the blood stream.

Other enzymes are found in the prostate or bone tissues. Still others exist in cancer cells. Transaminase is found in the heart, brain, muscle, and liver cells. There is none in lung tissue and, therefore, when the blood of the young executive previously mentioned was tested, the high transaminase level meant the breathing apparatus was not involved.

There is no end to how many tests will be devised in the future. Meanwhile, other enzymes such as trypsin are being used in the treatment of various conditions including black eye, sprained ankle, and bronchiectasis. Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

TOMORROW: Gnotobiotics.

EYE FLOATERS

Mrs. W. writes: Are floaters in the eyes serious?

REPLY

Occasionally, depending upon the cause. Some of the origins of this condition are benign and others are serious. Only the eye specialist who examines the individual can determine the type. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on spots before the eyes.

COUNT THEM

Mrs. D. writes: I have 15 symptoms, all of which my doctor blames on the menopause. Is this possible?

REPLY

Yes, if he says so. I assume that one or two are caused by glandular changes whereas the remainder are of nervous origin. Many women become upset at this time of life, for a variety of reasons.

NUTRITIOUS DRINK

Mrs. J. writes: Does cocoa have any special value for a person convalescing from an illness?

REPLY

Cocoa is stimulating and high in calories.

DILATED BRONCHI

E. F. K. writes: Is bronchiectasis a twin of tuberculosis or cancer of the lungs?

REPLY

No. In bronchiectasis, the smaller bronchioles lose their elasticity and dilate to such an extent that mucus accumulates in great quantities. Considerable coughing is needed to bring it up. Repeated respiratory infections are the most common origin of the disorder. Bronchiectasis may coexist with tuberculosis or cancer but in these instances the other diseases dominate the picture.

Today's Health Hint—Loafing is not happiness.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
 FRANKFURT (AP)—The quick comeback of West German industry after a crippling war has lured many American investors into the German stock market.

Until recently, the much larger yields on common stocks here than in the United States have boosted the trend.

Today both Americans and Germans are taking a second look.

German stock prices have risen because of the buying spurt both here and overseas. German authorities, wary of past booms and busts, aren't sure they welcome any possibly purely speculative interest.

Conservative German financiers are trying to adjust to some new ideas, well rooted in America—mutual investment funds, stock buying by insurance and pension funds. And, belatedly, there is an interest in the stock market by the average German citizen—an interest long cultivated in the United States by stock exchanges and mutual funds.

The rush of United States investors to buy German and other European stocks came after the prices of American stocks were pushed up to record highs, which left their yields relatively low, often lower than on bonds.

German stocks, meanwhile, were yielding 5 per cent on average. At their market price they seemed a bargain, and investors moved in. Their buying has forced stock prices here up, and the yield is now down nearer that to be had in New York.

Current prices of German stocks, for example, on the basis of last year's dividends now average out at a yield of 3.2 per cent. Germans stress this is due to the rise in stock prices, not to any drop in dividends. On the contrary, the average dividend paid by German companies on the stock exchanges has risen from 3.5 per cent of par value in 1957 to 10 per cent today.

Americans interested in stock trading note one striking difference in Germany from the United States. Here the large part of stock trading is done by the banks. Most persons buy through them instead of stock brokers and underwriters. The majority of German banks have a large portfolio of common shares—something you don't find in U.S. bank statements.

The German public's interest, long dormant, is also being inspired now by the so called people's shares, a device by which the government is partially transferring its industrial enterprises to private ownership. This may include an issue of shares in Volkswagenwerk, to let the average German share in the profits from Americans' yep for the German small auto.

World Sodality Day Observance Planned by St. Joseph's Group

On Sunday, May 10, members of Our Lady of Good Council Sodality of St. Joseph's parish will commemorate World Sodality Day, which is celebrated by Sodalists throughout the world.

For their first spiritual exercise of the day, the Sodalists will participate in their monthly Dialogue Mass at 10:00 a. m. In this Dialogue Mass, they will participate more fully with the priest by singing and answering responses to the priest.

At three o'clock in the afternoon, the Sodalists will go in procession to the rectory lawn, where an altar of the Blessed Mother will be erected and the May Crowning will take place.

Elsie Musante and Joseph Manno, who have been chosen queen and king by the Sodalists because of their outstanding devotion to Sodality, will perform the Crowning Ceremony.

Guest speaker for the event is Father Joseph J. Wiley, until recently the director of Sodalities in Erie Diocese, and now pastor of St. Bibiana's Church in Galeton, Pa.

Highlighting the afternoon will be the Perpetual Consecration Ceremonies in which a number of Sodalists who have proven themselves by their devotion to the Sodality ideals, will be consecrated to the Mother of God for life.

Following Benediction, a reception will be held by the Sodalists in honor of their parents and activities of the day will be concluded by a dance at 8:15 p. m. in St. Joseph's School Hall. SOCIETY

Calvary Baptist Youth To Honor Mothers Sunday

Young people of Calvary Baptist church will have charge of the Sunday School opening exercises in the adult department, with the junior high, senior high and young people's departments in attendance at 9:45 a. m. Sunday. The program honoring mothers will consist of Scripture, prayer and readings.

The oldest mother present in Sunday School will be honored with a gift at this time. The Sunday School will honor all mothers present in both Sunday School and the morning worship, with a potted plant. These blossoms will grace the altar and will be picked by the honored ones at the close of the service.

The young people will likewise have full charge of the evening Gospel Hour at 7:00 o'clock. Speakers honoring mothers will be Mrs. Russell Irwin, H. A. Backstrom, Linda Thompson and Paul Holmberg. Following the evening service, parents are invited to a fellowship hour with their sons and daughters in the annex.

Activities next week include: Monday—7:45, building committee; 8:00, trustees. Tuesday—7:00, combined meeting of the former Steering Committee and the present Suggestion Committee. Wednesday—7:00, prayer and Bible study, with James Holmberg as leader.

Thursday through Saturday—annual sessions of the Middle East Baptist Conference at the Chandler Street Baptist church in Jamestown. Registration for the conference begins at 6:00 p. m. Thursday, and the conference closes following midday banquets at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. Speakers are Rev. Gunnar Hoglund, director of General Conference Youth Work; Rev. Arthur Christianson and Rev. P. M. Augustine. Registration for Saturday's banquet should be made with Robert Chase this weekend.

Last Call Made For Turnabout Benefit

According to Co-chairman Mary Stein, tickets for the Saturday night Y-Teen Turnabout are selling like pink cotton candy. This affair, in which the girls invite the guys, has proved a big event annually for Y-Teens, who have planned a May Circus theme for this year.

The YWCA gym will be transformed into a Big Top via crepe paper and white posts, with single candles adorning tables for those who wish to sit one out. Programs, hand-made by Y-Teens, will be bright red and point up the general theme with clever circus clowns whose black hats are topped with cotton tassels.

All is in readiness for the hop, including engagement of Emme Emerson and his music-makers from 8:30 to 12:30. Sue Spattfor, refreshments chairman, adds the reminder there will be "plenty of goodies for everyone."

Warren County Unit, American Cancer Society, is grateful to the girls for the agreement to present a percentage of their ticket-take to the Cancer Crusade. Cancer, the number two disease killer, strikes in two out of three homes, and the one sure way to fight back is with dollars given to support the three-pronged program of education, service, and research.

The Turnabout is a gala one-night stand that no one in the know will want to miss, especially since it is completely informal, with cotton frocks for the lassies and street clothes for the lads.

West Germany's population now includes millions who fled the Eastern European satellites, most of them young people.

Bible Words for Today

JOHN 13:15 "For I have given you an example..." (KJV)

The disciples of Jesus were concerned about position and power. But He knew that the way to redemption was through humility and self-giving service. Therefore, He demonstrated the way of helpfulness by taking a towel and water and washing His disciples' feet. He asked them to duplicate His example to others.

To be an example to others is not easy. Too often we suggest, "Do as I say, and not as I do." If our world is to be a safe one in which to live—we must be examples of love, humility, unselfishness, and service.

Sir Charles Morrell once said, "The first great gift we can bestow on others is a good example." We may not leave behind us wealth, fame or popularity or other degrees of success—but each of us can be examples of Christ.

Offers Tips on Removing Stains
Many home methods remove stains and blemishes from furnishings. Satisfactorily, says Gerry Johnston, Extension Home Economist for Warren County. However, it is important to use correct materials and procedures.

To clean smoke stains from fireplace brick and stone, remove as much dirt as possible with a stiff brush. Then, scrub bricks with this solution—1 cup trisodium phosphate to 1 gallon water. Rinse thoroughly. To clean stone, mix 1 quart soap jelly, 1/2 cup ammonia, and 1/2 pound powdered pumice. Apply the solution with a brush. Allow to stand 15 to 20 minutes. Scrub stone, then rinse well with clear water.

To remove scratches on marble, sand lightly with fine sandpaper. Clean marble with soft water and soap or a synthetic detergent. Use a paste of whitening, hydrogen peroxide, and a few drops of ammonia to remove organic stains caused by coffee, soft drinks, fruit juices, ink, or tobacco. Spread the paste on the stain and cover with a glass sheet or a sheet of plastic to keep it damp. Allow to stand for several hours. Repeat if necessary. Rinse thoroughly and dry.

Go over leather with a damp, soapy cloth, then wipe off all soap with a cloth wrung from clear, warm water. Polish with a dry cloth. Do not use polish, varnish, or ammonia water on leather.

The POWER of FAITH
by Howard Brodie

FAITH AMERICANS LIVE BY-5
He has crawled through rubble below a leaning wall to speak words of comfort. He has entered blazing buildings to administer last rites. He has ordered other men off a roof before its collapse and carried an unconscious man to safety. He has broken the tragic news of death to firemen's survivors. In trials such as these has the faith of the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William J. Gorman been tested since he became chaplain of Chicago's fire department in 1922. He volunteers his services, which are in addition to his regular parish duties. Receiving no pay for his work with the firemen he has, in the words of one official, "been a source of strength." "The great courage of firemen humbles me," says the chaplain himself. "And what is humility but knowing yourself as you really are? What few things I've done were duty; the Lord put them in my way."

Church Notes

GUEST SPEAKER AT PENNA. AVE. BAPTIST
The Rev. J. A. Warnken, from Equatorial Africa, will be guest speaker at all Sunday services. Rev. Warnken went to Africa in 1931 and has spent most of his time evangelizing natives of French Equatorial Africa. When on the field, he pastors a church of over 2,000 native members, with native pastors assisting. When the missionary goes on furlough, most of the responsibility is taken by these native pastors. This visit to Warren represents for local members an opportunity to learn first hand of the power of the Gospel in the lives of these native Africans. Services are at 10:00 and 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., with pictures at the last service. All interested are welcome.

Oil-o-Ree Scouts Will Be Judged On Their Skills

Oil-o-ree Campers to be judged during entire stay.
Boy Scouts and Explorers camping at the Colonel Drake Council Oil-o-ree at Drake Well Park, Titusville on May 22, 23, 24 will be competing with each other on basic camping skills.

The pattern of judging used will be similar to that used at previous Camporees. Each unit is able to earn a maximum of 330 points based on these areas of observation.

Each unit will be required to carry in their equipment. All cooking must be done on charcoal. Packs will be judged on the basis of weight and distribution as well as weatherability. Each unit camp and site will be judged on the layout, fire location, latrine, beds and shelter, as well as cleanliness. Menus and food preparation as well as cleanup after each meal will also enter the rating.

Troop and Patrol leadership and discipline, as well as the participation in the program of the Oil-o-ree, will be another point of observation. The final point of checking will be based on the check-out after the unit camp is dismantled and the site cleared.

Jack Biltz, Oil City, Chief Judge observed that "Scout Troops follow the practice of leaving a campsite cleaner than they find it". Mr. Biltz is being assisted by Bill Nagy of Titusville and James Winkle of Clarion in this part of the Oil-o-ree. Visiting Troops will also have an opportunity to participate in this competition.

First, second, and third places for the Best Camping Troops in each of the three districts will be selected on the basis of this observation and judging.

Price Drop Noted in Farm Products in State

HARRISBURG (AP) — A 4 per cent drop in prices received by Pennsylvania farmers during the month ended April 15 was reported Thursday by the State Agriculture Department.

Lower prices for eggs, poultry and wholesale milk were the principal causes for the drop, the department said.

Prices received for eggs — 33 cents a dozen in mid-April — were the lowest since June 1957. However, higher prices were reported for calves, slaughter animals, feed grains and fruit.

ual significance. Such a person wants to care for the soil because it lives and gives life. He thus becomes a good steward. He may not realize the spiritual value anymore than a person doing a good deed thinks of God or religion. All these values are inherent in the souls of kindly and intelligent men — call them what you wish. We are conscious of the "trademarks" of soil and water conservation, the signs of good stewardship. They are the striping on the sloping fields, the windbreaks and stubble mulching, the beautiful warm woodlots, the thick green blankets of meat-producing and soil-conserving pastures, the better grasses on the range, and the areas which produce food and home for wildlife. They include water harnessed to help man instead of wash him away, the efficient use of irrigation water, improved drainage of established farmland, soil-building rotations, use of fertilizer and manure and dozens of other soil and water conserving practices which are a part of modern farming."

Nation's No. 1 G-Man Will Have Anniversary Sunday

Editors note—For millions of Americans, J. Edgar Hoover is the FBI. On May 10 he celebrates the 35th anniversary of his appointment of director.

By JACK ADAMS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's No. 1 G-man reaches an important milestone Sunday — 35 eventful years as boss of the FBI, and the longest tenure for a federal agency head in the country's history.

But there is every evidence that John Edgar Hoover has the same drive and zest for his job that marked his wonder boy era back in the roaring twenties. That era had its start when Hoover, just 29, was placed in charge of a discredited, scandal-ridden organization of political hacks whose staff reputedly included some ex-convicts. It is history now—the story of how he cleaned out the bureau with a stern hand and went ahead to make it one of the world's most renowned and most respected investigative agencies.

Hoover, who passed his 64th birthday last Jan. 1, has no thought of retiring. "A few days ago he told me: 'Old age will have to run mighty fast to catch up with me.'"

The FBI director serves at the pleasure of whoever happens to be attorney general. Hoover, who has no political affiliation, has held the job under five Presidents and a dozen attorneys general, Democrat and Republican.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers laughed off a question about a possible Hoover retirement.

Who would succeed Hoover if he should retire? One rarely hears talk about a successor, but two names are mentioned occasionally: Clyde A. Tolson, the associate director who has worked at Hoover's side for 31 years; and Edward A. Tamm, who was assistant to Hoover for 20 years before accepting a federal district judgeship in the District of Columbia.

A bachelor, Hoover, lives in a modest home in a fashionable Washington neighborhood with his two Cairn terriers — G-Boy and Tucker — and raises roses in his leisure hours.

He believes in keeping fit. Just under 6 feet, he watches his diet and keeps his weight at 175 pounds. Weather permitting, he daily dismisses his car a mile short of his office in the Justice department building and strides the last lap at a gait that frequently winds companions.

Hoover reads several newspapers every day—including the comic strips and everything in the sports section. His favorite books are the biographies of great Americans.

At the office, he maintains constant personal touch with everything of importance that is going on at the moment. There is a standing rule that any employee who wants to see him has only to ask.

The dark was filled with tears. Things, that clawed, and bit, and stung. The moon cast lonely shadows. When I was very young, I cried, and quickly you were there. Your arms dispelled my fright. With quiet words you showed me The beauty of the night. A child once laughed at me in school And wrenched my world apart. It was you who taught me that a smile Best hides an aching heart. You showed me how to cook and sew, When mud-pie days were past; And by example you built up Good habits which would last. You gave me strength and wisdom too, As years raced swiftly on— From you I learned of tenderness And faith, when hope seems gone. Your love for me has never failed, It will outlast all other, God bless and keep you in His care, My precious, wonderful mother.

Korean Vets May Fill Out Bonus Cards Next Week

VFW Post 631 of Warren has set up their Service Division to assist Korean War veterans in filling out the Korean Bonus Information cards. These cards will be used to process the Korean Bonus Application forms when they are available.

Korean veterans, their widows or beneficiaries, may fill out a card at VFW post rooms Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday of next week between 9 and 9 p. m. daily. Honorable discharge and form 214 must accompany the applicant.

Facts concerning the Bonus have been taken from the bill, "Korean Conflict Veterans Compensation Act". The bill was signed by former Gov. George M. Leader July 8, 1957.

1. Must have served between June 25, 1950 and July 27, 1953 as a member of U. S. forces or of their allies.

2. Must have served at least 60 days and been Honorably Discharged.

3. Legal resident of Pennsylvania, who gave the Commonwealth as his or her place of residence or home address at time of entering Armed Forces.

4. Most career service people are barred: any individual who was a member of a regular Armed Forces of U. S. with continuous service of four years immediately prior to June 25, 1950; except those awarded Korean Service Medal for active foreign and/or sea service who are still legal residents of Pennsylvania when the Act became effective (July 8, 1957).

5. Computation of the Bonus — $15 a month for every month or major fraction of a month of active foreign service and/or sea service in military, naval or air forces of U. S. or Allies for those veterans awarded or authorized Korean Service Medal; $10 a month for other service meeting requirements in items No. 1 and 2 above. Service in England, Germany, France, Italy, Africa, etc., will be considered as home service.

Veterans records must show entitlement to the Korean Service Medal, otherwise he will not be entitled to the $15 rate but will be paid $10 a month.

6. Veterans who died in active service during Korean Conflict will be rated at $500.

The above six facts are most important in the 6 1/2-page bill.

Kelly Proud That He Is Doing It Entirely on Own

By FRED B. WALTERS
CARLISLE, Pa. (AP) — "I guess I'm proudest of the fact I did it on my own."

The remark was made today by Corky Kelly, the 19-year-old son of a famous father whose heroic death guaranteed the future of his then infant son.

On Wednesday Corky received news that he had earned appointment to West Point "by passing stiff competitive examinations."

He didn't have to put himself to the test. His father was Capt. Colin P. Kelly Jr., the nation's first air hero of World War II.

Seven days after Capt. Kelly was killed in action President Roosevelt paid an enduring tribute to the gallant pilot in a letter to the President of the United States in 1956.

He asked that President "to consider the merits of an American youth of goodly heritage—Colin P. Kelly III—for appointment as a cadet in the U. S. Military Academy at West Point."

Corky was assured of a start in life, and it was a start that he grew up to want, but not quite on such easy terms.

"I guess I could have gotten my appointment without taking the examinations," he said today. "But I didn't want it that way. I wanted to prove that I could do it on my own. If I wasn't qualified, I didn't think it would be right to take a place from somebody else who was."

He'll enroll in the Point's plebe class on July 7.

Arrested were Morris Hess, 35, and David Lerner, 47, both of Brooklyn, and Alexander Spica, 47, of Manhattan.

"This is a lotta nonsense," said Spica to news cameramen flashing his picture at police headquarters.

"We are people who have families, you know," said Hess.

Among the loot they carried in a cardboard box was a mink coat valued at $10,000; an emerald necklace ($140,000), a ruby necklace ($100,000), and many other gems. Police said the total was nearly one million dollars.

The burglars were held on charges of breaking, entry and larceny.

by companies still in operation.

The union, which has not yet spelled out its demands since the talks started Tuesday, has said it will seek a sizable wage boost plus fringe benefits. Present steel wages average $2.02 an hour. The average price of steel is $150 a ton.

Cooper also denied a union charge that companies were considering a lockout if any steel firms were struck.

Cooper said the industry never has shut down its plants from its workers and never before has had to consider this problem in view of the union's traditional no contract-no work policy.

Cooper termed all consideration of what the industry may do in any situation "unwarranted speculation."

McDonald indicated that the union would wind up today its preliminary presentation of arguments in support of its demands.

Observers at the current talks feel the industry is working on some type of mutual aid plan, but is not willing to talk about it, just as McDonald has been unwilling to discuss what type of walkout would occur should one develop.

The union filed no formal Taft-Hartley violation charges in respect to the allegedly illegal industry lockout plan. Concerning any profit-sharing plan, Goldberg wrote the Justice Department that such a device would violate anti-trust laws.

Ike Serves

Herter outlined America's position for the East-West talks starting Monday in a nationally broadcast address Thursday night.

He arranged a final meeting with President Eisenhower before heading for the Geneva meeting with the foreign ministers of Britain, France and Russia.

Herter's maiden speech won praise from Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the assistant Democratic leader, as "candid" and "statesmanlike."

In his half-hour address the new secretary pledged firmness and intent to negotiate in good faith. He called on the Communists too for "businesslike negotiations and not a propaganda exercise."

He set forth three basic guidelines of Western policy for the negotiations and summed them up, saying:

"The heart of our policy can be clearly and simply said to be this: A Germany reunited in freedom, a security system linked with arrangements for arms control, and in the interim a free and secure Berlin."

Herter said that in the Geneva talks, the West would "honestly and in good faith seek some advance, even if small, toward a just peace."

He ruled out fear and appeasement in negotiating with the Reds, who set off the current crisis by proposing moves that could force the Allies to turn over West Berlin.

But he cautioned against great expectations from the Geneva parity. He said the past record of the Soviets shows "the best we can look for is slow progress toward the ultimate goal of international stability which only a just peace will bring."

big."

This weekend the renowned company is winding up the triumphant initial stand at the Metropolitan Opera House next comes a week of added performances in Madison Square Garden.

After that, the troupe moves on to San Francisco, Los Angeles, Toronto and Montreal, where the visit concludes June 21.

Virtually all performances en route have been sellouts for weeks, to the perceptible comfort of the trip's sponsors, impresario Sol Hurok and the American National Theatre and Academy.

The Hurok office says the Met engagement brought in $700,000; another $350,000 will come in from the Garden; and "well over a million" is in prospect from the other four cities.

Skimmed immediately from this rich trove are what the Hurok office calls basic weekly costs. These include $50,000 to the Bolshoi management; auditorium rentals the Met cost $25,000 a week; wages for 65 stagehands, another $22,000; the pay for 91 musicians, $25,000; and per diem allowances to all the company for hotel rooms and food.

In addition to the basic charges are other costs for which figures are not readily available. These include amortizing the company's airplane passage and transportation of performers, costumes and scenery on tour.

At the completion of the tour there will be one financial item confronting each performer—filing a U. S. income tax return and paying any necessary sum on what they earned in this country.

operates the Sandia Special Weapons Laboratory at Albuquerque, N. M., for the Atomic Energy Commission.

In 1953 President Eisenhower appointed Quarles as assistant secretary of defense for research and development.

Quarles became secretary of the Air Force in August 1955. He is survived by his widow and three children.

By a former marriage, Quarles has two daughters and a son, Carolyn Anne, Mrs. Stanley C. Lewis, and Donald Aubrey Jr.

Quarles has served as acting head of the big Defense Department on many occasions when the defense secretary was absent.

Quarles started his climb from modest circumstances.

While still in short pants, he showed a bent for mathematics. He was graduated from high school at the age of 15 and because there was a shortage of teachers, so he said, he was offered a job teaching math in high school provided he went to the University of Missouri's summer school. This he did. The 16-year-old math teacher's first monthly paycheck was $50.

He went back to the university the next summer and again taught in high school. In addition he had some part-time jobs, saved his money and headed for Yale in 1912.

He got his B. A. degree in 1916 and the following year he enlisted in the Army. After two years in France and Germany during World War I, he came home a captain.

Mustered out, he got a job in New York with Western Electric's engineering department, did part-time studying in theoretical physics at Columbia University. During World War II he had much to do with development of radar.

Quarles did not smoke or drink. He enjoyed good music well enough to go "voluntarily to symphonies."

Penciled Notes Tell Grim Story of Mountain Tragedy

LINCOLN, N.H. (AP) — "I see little prospect of any planes reaching us today."

"I have little hope."

"I have become particularly weak. Fighting the cold weather is hard."

"It is plus-5 (temperature) this morning but reached minus-10 last night."

Goodbye all."

In these notes, found in the wreckage of their crashed plane, two Dartmouth College physicians described their last hours after their single-engine plane plowed into a clump of trees in snowy mountain wilderness here last Feb. 21.

The notes, written by Drs. Ralph E. Miller, 60, and Robert

Quinn, 32, of the Dartmouth medical faculty, were released Thursday night by the college news office.

Their plane, downed on a flight from Berlin to Lebanon, was found last Tuesday in a desolate part of the White Mountain National Forest, about seven miles east of Lincoln. Dr. Miller, a veteran pilot, said in one of the notes that their carburetor had iced up.

Not all of the doctors' last notes were released. Personal messages to their families were withheld.

But what was made public showed how cold and snow and hunger eventually defeated the two men.

The rest of the 14 men at work in the one-story building escaped.

The dead man was John Lake, 45, of New York City, a plumber.

The investigations were conducted by the Nassau County district attorney's office, the county police department and the town of Oyster Bay, which embraces the village of Westbury, 30 miles east of New York City.

Floods took the lives of 2,430 persons in the United States in the past 30 years.

Children Won't Give You More Than You Expect

Memo to parents:
You usually don't get one bit more from your children than you expect of them.

If you expect them to be so careless that they can't be trusted to remember anything important without half a dozen reminders from you, they'll let you do their remembering for them.

If you give and give and give and ask for nothing in return, nothing is just about what you'll get.

If you think passing grades are good enough even though conscientious study habits could produce "A's" you'll be lucky if the grades are always passing.

If you think it is only natural for young people to be thoughtless and inconsiderate, you aren't likely to get the telephone call that keeps you from worrying nor the help with the housework when you are tired.

If you don't expect any thanks for the many things you do for your children, they will all be taken for granted.

If you don't expect your children to tell the truth, chances are they won't when it is easier not to.

If you don't expect your children to do their share of the family chores, you can't have much hope that they'll get the idea of taking responsibility all by themselves.

Children are perceptive. They easily sense what is expected of them and they are human enough to try to get by with doing less than is expected rather than more.

The Mature Parent

Child's Distrust Does Not Always Turn to Confidence

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

At breakfast Sara's parents had a heated argument over returning hospitality to some people Sara's mother couldn't stand.

At noon at Sara's school cafeteria, the girl beside her said, "Did you hear about Lois Evans? Her parents are getting a divorce. She burst into tears in gym this morning because her father left home last night and nobody knows where he is. She was crying so hard Miss Purdy sent her home."

After school Sara's mother said, "I thought you liked making your bed now that you have pink sheets. That's certainly a sloppy job of bed-making you left upstairs this morning."

Snapped Sara, "If you don't like the way I make my bed, why don't you start making it yourself?"

Her mother finished preparing her asparagus for dinner. Then following to the sun porch where Sara was moodily contemplating her algebra assignment, she said, "That was a pretty snippy remark just now. Why were you so rude? How have I disappointed you?"

Sara said passionately, "I hate parents who get divorced! Lois Evans' parents are doing it. And you called Daddy 'stubborn and stuffy' this morning and..."

With this cue, her mother was able to quiet the anxiety that had caused Sara's rudeness.

Some parents ignore a child's impudence. For some reason they think that the distrust behind it will somehow get itself changed to confidence. This is not always the case.

Into our evasion of his rudeness, a child often reads disinterest or boredom. Thus, by ignoring his rudeness, we may so increase his distrust of us that his rudeness increases, too.

Even if youngsters do not confess the anxiety behind some impudence, it is generally wiser to notice it than to ignore it.

We are not always given to know what goes on in children. We have no way of knowing what Sara has made of a minor difference with our husband. But we can know what goes on in us when she suddenly turns on us with impudence.

We can register the concern underlying our surface reactions of surprise and annoyance. And by expressing it honestly to Sara, encourage her to deal more directly and openly with us.

Area C. of C. Flood Committee Finds Flaws in Attack on Dam

The following, submitted by Merle W. Kremer, chairman of the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce Flood Committee, is a reply to a recent address delivered in the House at Washington by Congressman Dulski:

The issue of the proposed reservoir on the Allegheny has been in the mill for some twenty-five years now and in the course of that time has sent many a seasoned congressman, both pro and con, scurrying home without success in their endeavors. Perhaps Congressman Dulski should have expressed his views on a less controversial subject, than that of the Kinzua Dam project. So it is with compassion that we, the members of the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce Flood Committee, take issue with Congressman Dulski's first opposing utterances on the flood of Congress, as he has stated half-truths which must be challenged. Challenged—not for the sake of argument—but to present the facts in a light that will lead to a clear understanding of the fundamentals involved in this matter.

The Congressman mentions the problem of the Indian in his dissertation. This, as almost everyone is well aware of, concerns the controversy over the right of the U. S. Government to condemn the lands of the Seneca Nation for use in the overall impoundment of the Kinzua Reservoir. This is an argument based entirely on a treaty made with the Seneca Indians in 1794.

We suggest that the aspects of that treaty be studied in the cold light of rationalism. The treaty of 1794 was made with the Indians at a time when they were totally independent of the U. S. Government in every respect and it can be assumed that the makers of the treaty, on both sides, expected the relationship to remain this way forever. And as a treaty, like a contract, must be interpreted according to the intentions of its makers—there is little we can do but consider this fact in applying the terms of the treaty to our present day problems. Upon doing so, we find that the Indian altered the status quo as it existed in 1795 by requesting citizenship in the United States of America. This took place years after the signing of a treaty, for upon seeing the advantages of citizenship, and wanting them for his own personal gain and use, he applied for, and was granted what all of us consider to be a great privilege. In 1924, by an act of Congress, all non-citizen Indians who had been born with in the territorial limits of the United States were granted a blanket citizenship. Legislation passed in recent years has made him eligible to receive old age pensions, unemployment compensation and outright relief grants as any other citizen of our land. These and numerous other benefits of citizenship have been his for the asking. We contend, therefore, that this places his property, so far as condemnation is concerned, in the same position as the property of any other citizen and further contend that the Indian, by participating in citizenship, has forfeited his right to the special privileges written in a treaty many years ago. Congressman Dulski also dissented on the counter proposal to the Kinzua project which is the Conewango Valley Diversion plan. It is a plan to build a diversionary canal to the Conewango Valley to carry off the excess water of the Allegheny and drain it into Lake Erie. This proposal has its points and so the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers made a complete and thorough study of the plan and it was held to be practical, but far too costly to recommend it as an alternative to the Kinzua proposal. While engineers could argue pro and con on the relative merits of the two proposals—the Kinzua Dam and the Conewango Canal—without ever reaching agreement on which project would be the best for all concerned, it is estimated the Conewango Canal would cost one hundred ninety-nine million dollars if it was built at present material prices. This is almost double the cost of the Kinzua Dam project. Above and beyond its higher original cost, the Conewango Canal would displace more persons than the Kinzua project. It is estimated that there would be a displacement of some twenty-three hundred persons in the Allegheny Valley, including the Indians of the Allegheny Reservation and only thirty-two commercial establishments, while the number of persons displaced in the Conewango Valley would exceed five thousand and over five hundred commercial establishments would be affected.

The construction of the Kinzua Dam not only affects the Allegheny Basin but also the Ohio Basin and is the key for protection of the industries of the Allegheny Valley. The control of the Allegheny Reservoir will serve as a storage area for the excess flood waters until they are needed for constructive purposes. Although the shortage of water in the Allegheny River is confined almost entirely to the summer months, the conditions at that time are so severe they could be considered as a contributing factor in retarding further industrial development of this important valley. And further than this if we consider the estimates of the President's Materials Policy Commission, our present industries will be requiring almost three times as much water by 1976 as they do now. If this is the case, the Allegheny Valley itself will be in dire need of water by that time.

There are five counter proposals that have been submitted as substitutes for the building of the Kinzua Dam, all of which have been studied by the U. S. Corps of Engineers and have been found to be in many aspects not as feasible practical, nor proven to be as effective and constructive as the Kinzua project. This has cost the taxpayer 700,000 dollars and nothing has been done to date, to protect the areas which are in constant fear of suffering from millions of dollars in damage, not to mention the loss of lives which result from uncontrolled flood waters.

However, it isn't the logical aspects of the many counter-proposals that are deferring the construction of the Kinzua Dam. If it were, the decisions regarding them would be ever so much easier to conclude. Rather than this, it is the emotionalism which is injected in the issue by the Seneca Indians supporting each counter-proposal in its turn, and crying out that in building the Kinzua Dam we will be violating a treaty made with them in 1794. That makes any final decision more difficult to reach. And because this Indian problem seems to highlight each proposal that is placed in the path of the Kinzua Dam's construction, it is necessary to clear up some of the points which are pertinent to it if one is to support the building of the dam.

Our question is this—Who sponsors the other proposals such as diverting the waters of the Allegheny into Lake Erie? Is it the Seneca Indians? Or are the Indians being encouraged to promote this counter proposal to the Kinzua project—by the landowners of the Conewango Valley? Certainly it would be to the benefit of these landowners if they could sell their three-dollar-an-acre swamp-land to the U. S. Government for the estimated (from the records of the hearings before the Public Works Sub-Committee of the House Appropriations Committee of Congress) two to three hundred dollars per acre they expect to get for it.

The Conewango Project has been thoroughly studied by the U. S. Corps of Engineers and found to be impractical. The Corps of Engineers is a department set up by the U. S. Government, manned with qualified personnel and given the responsibility of finding the best solution for the protection of the areas affected by floods. The Corps has submitted an unbiased recommendation after thorough study, costing thousands of dollars. The recommendation was that the building of the Kinzua Dam is the answer to the Allegheny basin problem. Yet we have self-styled "engineers"—"experts" submitting counter-proposals which the Corps of Engineers contend are not as good as that of the Kinzua project.

In twenty-five years we have grown accustomed to the influence of outside forces in respect to the Kinzua Dam. And Congressman Dulski points up one of these situations when he says, "There is a serious question as to whether the Kinzua Dam project is a flood-control project." There has never been any question about this, and we believe that the Congressman and others have been misinformed. Because it is a part of

American Legion Celebrates Its Fortieth Anniversary

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The American Legion, its seed planted in France in the twilight of the first World War, is celebrating its 40th anniversary.

Praised for service to veterans and the community, the legion also has been criticized on charges of ultra-nationalism, governmental meddling and too much convention horseplay.

But its critics cannot deny the influence and power of the legion with its 2,514,000 members. The U. S. Army high command provided the spur for the birth of the legion.

After Germany had been defeated, discontent arose in the American Expeditionary Force. The war was over and the doughboys wanted to go home.

The Army high command, seeking to rub out this discontent, called 20 National Guard and Reserve officers to a Paris meeting aimed at finding ways to end the soldiers' grumbling. There was talk and some recommendations.

But some officers were thinking farther ahead. One was Lt. Col. Theodore Roosevelt Jr., son of the 26th President. Roosevelt had been thinking of a veterans' organization long before the high command moved to still the foot soldiers' complaints.

With Roosevelt the prime force, the 20 men formed a unit and spread the word that a meeting would be held March 15, 1919 in Paris.

Some 1,000 officers and enlisted men flocked to Paris to a caucus, March 15-17, and the legion was on its way.

In the United States, there followed an intensive campaign to acquaint veterans with the proposed organization. In St. Louis on May 7, 1919 a general caucus of each state was held.

The legion was chartered by Act of Congress and the charter convention was held in Minneapolis Nov. 10-12, 1919.

This Saturday Legionnaires will return to downtown St. Louis to a plaque on a utility company wall—formerly the site of a theater where the legion was born—and hold rededication ceremonies.

"Key Characters" Will Be Missing From Conventions

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST WASHINGTON (AP)—Television viewers of the 1960 national political conventions may have to become accustomed to a new cast of characters in key convention posts.

Reps. Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.), Joseph W. Martin Jr. (R-Mass.) and John McCormack (D-Mass.) may be missing from the glare of the camera spotlights.

Rayburn, speaker of the House, has presided over the past three Democratic conventions.

Martin, a 74-year-old veteran of many political wars, has wielded the gavel as permanent chairman of the past five Republican National conventions.

The 67-year-old McCormack, graduate of "the Boston school of practical politics," has headed the platform committee of three of the past four Democratic National conventions.

But the three House members may not occupy those spots in 1960 when the Democrats meet in Los Angeles and the Republicans in Chicago.

Rayburn remarked at a recent Washington social affair that he might not be chairman in 1960, that he might want to make a nominating speech. As neutral referees, convention chairmen can not make a nominating speeches.

Rayburn attached no significance to the remark, which he said was made in jest. Whether he would accept the post of chairman if it were offered to him, he hasn't said. Some members of the Democratic National Committee are known to favor the chairmanship someone less inclined than Rayburn to conciliate the party's Southern wing.

A question mark has been posed over Martin's possible role in 1960 by his ouster from the party leadership in the House. He was replaced as floor leader last January by Charles A. Halleck of Indiana. Martin hasn't commented publicly on his 1960 prospects. He reportedly would accept the post if it were offered to him.

McCormack definitely does not want to head the Platform Committee.

Paratroopers Are Not Born... They Are Made!

The United States Army gives its Airborne Volunteers the best training and equipment in the world, according to Sergeant Rocco A. Curcio, local United States Army Recruiting Officer.

Paratroopers are tough-fibered, active, out-of-doors men who scorn soft living and thrill to the stimulation of a career that demands a high level of mental alertness and physical fitness.

said the Sergeant.

For a realistic demonstration of an actual Airborne assault see a task force of 700 101st Airborne Division Paratroopers jump at Woodville State Farm on the afternoon of May 8th at 3 o'clock. Everything will be real but the bullets when America's finest fighting men drop out of the heavens to seize and destroy an Aggressor missile unit that is set to extinguish Pittsburgh in an atomic holocaust. The 101st Airborne is the same Division that battled seven German divisions to a standstill at Bastogne.

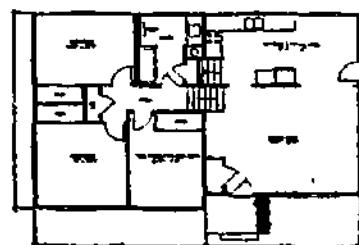

Men interested in joining this division or the equally famous 82nd Airborne Division can receive complete information at the Army Recruiting Station located at Exchange Hotel here in Warren, Penna. The Army is the only branch of service to offer the Airborne as a choice of enlistment. Army enlistments are for three years and all assignments are guaranteed prior to enlistment.

If you want Airborne, Engineering, Medicine, Electronics, Missiles or Rockets, see your Army Recruiter — CHOICE IS GUARANTEED BEFORE ENLISTMENT.

Musial's 400th Home Run Clincher for Card 4-3 Win

By ED WILKS
Babe Ruth, Jimmy Foxx, Mel Ott, Lou Gehrig, Ted Williams—and now Stan Musial.

Stan the Man, one of baseball's all-time great hitters, hammered his way into that select circle of sluggers Thursday night with his 400th home run—a 400-foot shot leading off the ninth inning at St. Louis that brought the Cardinals a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Musial, at 37, has only two homers in this, his 18th season, but they've come on consecutive nights. And more than coincidentally, perhaps, they've triggered the Cards' first two-game winning "streak" of the year in the National League.

The milestone missile into the right-center field pavilion at Busch Stadium coupled Musial with Williams as the only 400 home-run sluggers now in business. Ruth, of course, is the all-time leader with 714. Foxx, the only right-handed belter in the lot, finished with 534. Ott, the only other National Leaguer in the group, hit 511. Gehrig had 493. And Williams, still sidelined by injury this season, has hit 482 for the Boston Red Sox.

Musial's homer, climaxed a tremendous day for first basemen in the NL. Norm Larker hit a two-run homer that gave Los Angeles a 2-1 victory over San Francisco, and Ted Kluwe scored his first home run of the year leading off the 10th inning for a 5-4 Pittsburgh victory over Philadelphia. Those were the only games scheduled in the NL.

The homer was Musial's lone hit of the game. It came off reliever Don Elston (0-1). The Cards' other three runs also came on a homer, with pinch-hitter George Crowe delivering.

That tied it 3-all, after three solo homers off Card starter Lindy McDaniel by the Cubs' Jim Marshall, who hit a pair, and Ernie Banks. Howie Nunn (2-1) was the winner in relief for the last place Cards.

Larker, subbing for Gil Hodges, who pulled a shoulder muscle when he tripled in the second inning, ripped his winning homer in the fourth inning at San Francisco. It came off Jack Sanford (4-2), who had won four straight. The Giants, who pulled off five doubleplays, scored in their fourth on a triple by Willie Mays and Daryl Spencer's sacrifice fly.

Stan Williams (1-0) allowed the Giants but six hits—half of them by Mays. Willie also swung on a 3-0 pitch that would have given him an intentional walk—and fouled out with two men on base in the eighth.

After the game the Dodgers flew home to Los Angeles where they lost an exhibition night game to the New York Yankees 6-2 before 93,103, baseball's largest crowd ever.

Walker Makes It Three in Row Over Hapless Senators

By ED WILKS
You might say Jerry Walker is making a major league career out of beating Washington. The 20-year-old right-hander has a 3-0 record for his three stabs at the big-time with Baltimore—and each of those decisions was against the Senators.

He got the third, his second of the season, Thursday night, blanking the Nats on three hits before Reno Bertoia's eight-inning home run, as the second place Orioles whipped Washington 10-1 and moved within two games of the idle Cleveland Indians.

Only one other American League game was scheduled, and Detroit took that, 3-1 from Boston. Walker, a 6-1, 185-pound Oklahoma, polished off the Senators with a five-hitter, walking two and striking out five.

The Thursday night game was packed away before Walker gave up Bertoia's fourth homer. The Orioles, who have won four of their last five, rapped 17 hits off four Washington pitchers, chasing Pete Ramos (3-3) in a five-run second inning triggered by Gus Triandos' solo sixth homer.

Bob Nieman and Al Pilarcik homered as the Birds hit their one-game scoring high of the season. Nieman's shot was a two-run blast and his 10th home run in the majors.

Larry Doby drove home a pair of runs for the Tigers, getting the winner across while grounding out in a two-run sixth against Ike DeLock, who had won three in a row. It was the last place Tigers' third success in four games under Manager Jimmy Dykes and right-hander Frank Lary (3-2) put it away for his third in a row.

Lary, allowing eight hits, now has won five straight from the Red Sox since July 30, 1957. Boston's run was unearned in the fifth inning, giving Lary a string of 23 frames in which he has allowed just one earned run.

Stitch Disregards Odds In Ring Battle Tonight

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Gaspar Ortega is favored to beat Rudy Stitch tonight but the odds don't mean much to the revenge-minded Stitch who thought he won their first bout.

Ortega took a split decision by a single point after a bloody battle in New York Feb. 6 but suffered an eye cut that has kept him on the sidelines since.

Tonight's 10-round bout between the scrappy welterweights will be telecast and broadcast nationally (NBC, 9 p.m. EST).

Pan-American Officials Visit Latin Countries

CHICAGO (AP)—Two ambassadors of good will from Chicago will visit Latin America to stir interest in the third Pan-American Games Aug. 27 to Sept. 7.

Ralph Metcalfe and Fred Dickens, members of the Chicago Pan-American Games Organizing Committee, will tour separate South American areas beginning May 20.

The sports ambassadors will meet with Pan-American Games representatives to discuss plans and check needs of Latin American athletes while participating in the games.

A.P. Death Record

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Crisanto Cardinal Luque, 70, primate of the Roman Catholic Church in Colombia, died Thursday of a heart attack. He was Colombia's first and only prince of the church.

Oddities in the News

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—An atomic physicist has called the use of scientists for janitorial services a "ridiculous and flagrant waste" of highly trained personnel.

Jack Paden, a civilian in the 495th Test Group (Atomic) at Kirtland Air Force Base, was the complainant.

He says that until recently scientists and technicians—making anywhere from $7,510 to $11,335 a year—had been stuck with janitors' chores because of a manpower cut.

He said he complained to Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-NM) and the group now has its janitor back.

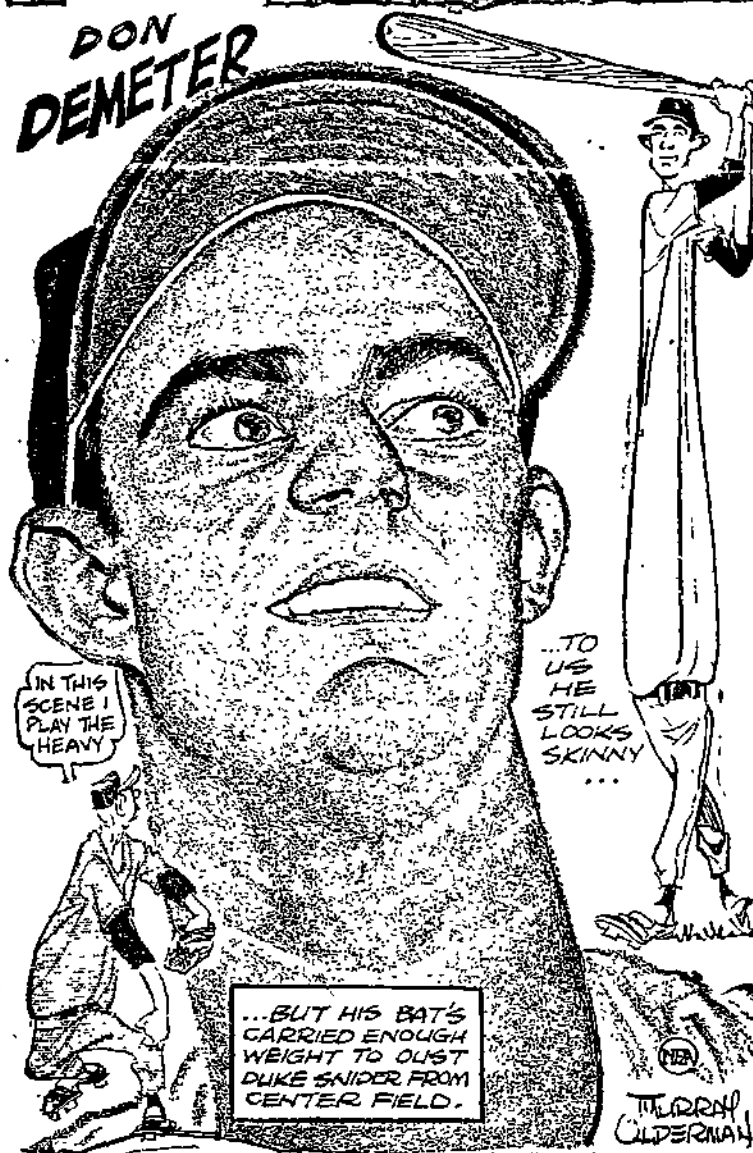

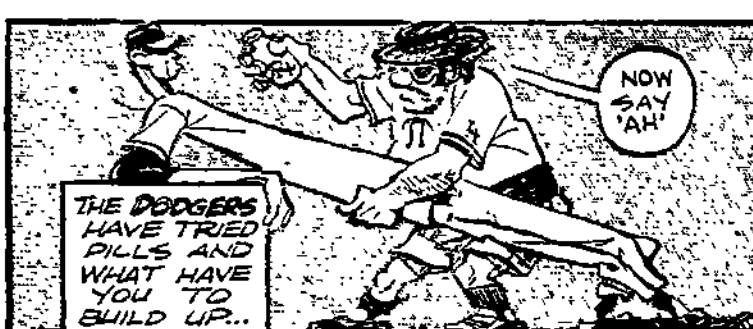

CHICAGO (AP)—A grocer gave two big bags of food Thursday to the destitute family of an unemployed laborer who was caught stealing $200 worth of food from his store.

Recipient of the food was Mrs. Nancy Brown, 20, mother of two small boys. Her husband, Adolph, 22, was in jail after he was seized attempting to haul away a cart loaded of groceries from a store operated by John and Michael Epifanio.

John, 27, explained why he gave the food to Mrs. Brown: "I'm human and I got kids of my own. I wouldn't want to see them go hungry. I can't judge the children for what the father does."

Is Cus D'Amato Running Another Benefit Show?

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Banners flying, the Cus D'Amato Chowder, Marching and Charity Society is off on another errand of international mercy and good will.

If all goes well and the minority and hep opposition is outshouted, the Society will make its handsomest contribution when Floyd Patterson, almost apologetically climbs into the Yankee Stadium ring with Ingemar Johansson on June 25. The Brooklyn kid has been apologizing for his manager's matchmaking ever since he came out of the amateur ranks.

Even D'Amato did not have the nerve to call the London thing a heavyweight championship defense, but referred to it as a tune-up for his biggest effort, the Swar-for-Sweden movement which he sees running into the millions.

D'Amato, who speaks first and gets more copy than his tiger, and Patterson never had it so good. Not even when Pete Rademacher, a rank amateur, hustled $250,000 and handed it over to them for roughly the same chance that Johansson has now.

LONDON, WHO SHOWED NO more inclination to retaliate against Patterson's awkward and sporadic attacks than the heavy bag which he resembled physically, competitively and temperamentally, at least had a few pretight defenders.

Not so Johansson, the only defenders of whom are those who have had paydays with him or hope to get one this trip. Even some Swedes won't go for him.

In the light of the evidence, this corner refuses to proclaim Johansson until he has been displayed to the paying guests on this side of the Atlantic. All I know about him is that his fame is based solely on a quick knockout of Eddie Machen, a San Francisco heavyweight of questionable ability and one reportedly handicapped by a bad shoulder, caught cold on a chilly night and quickly knocked out.

LONDON ADMITTEDLY CAME over just to last as long as he could and collect $60,000 plus expenses.

Johansson seems to be taking the upcoming appointment in much the same spirit, and why not? He is guaranteed $100,000 or 20 per cent of receipts that may exceed a million.

The Johansson entourage resembles nothing so much as a picnic party. Ingemar brought along his parents, his fiancée, his brother and his girl and his sister in addition to camp followers. It is reported that a maiden aunt who was invited declined on the grounds that she was too old for such shenanigans.

TO FURTHER THE IMPRESSION of a holiday, the Johansson party early decided to remain in New York City instead of establishing a proper camp. None of this roughing it in the country for the Swedish delegation. Not with this kind of sugar.

The party arrived with more cameras than a group of Russian spies. Ingemar became so engrossed in taking pictures in the Indianapolis ring the night Patterson looked so bad against London that he almost forgot he was being introduced as a challenger.

After all, maybe Ingemar Johansson doesn't believe he is.

SEASICKNESS TIPS

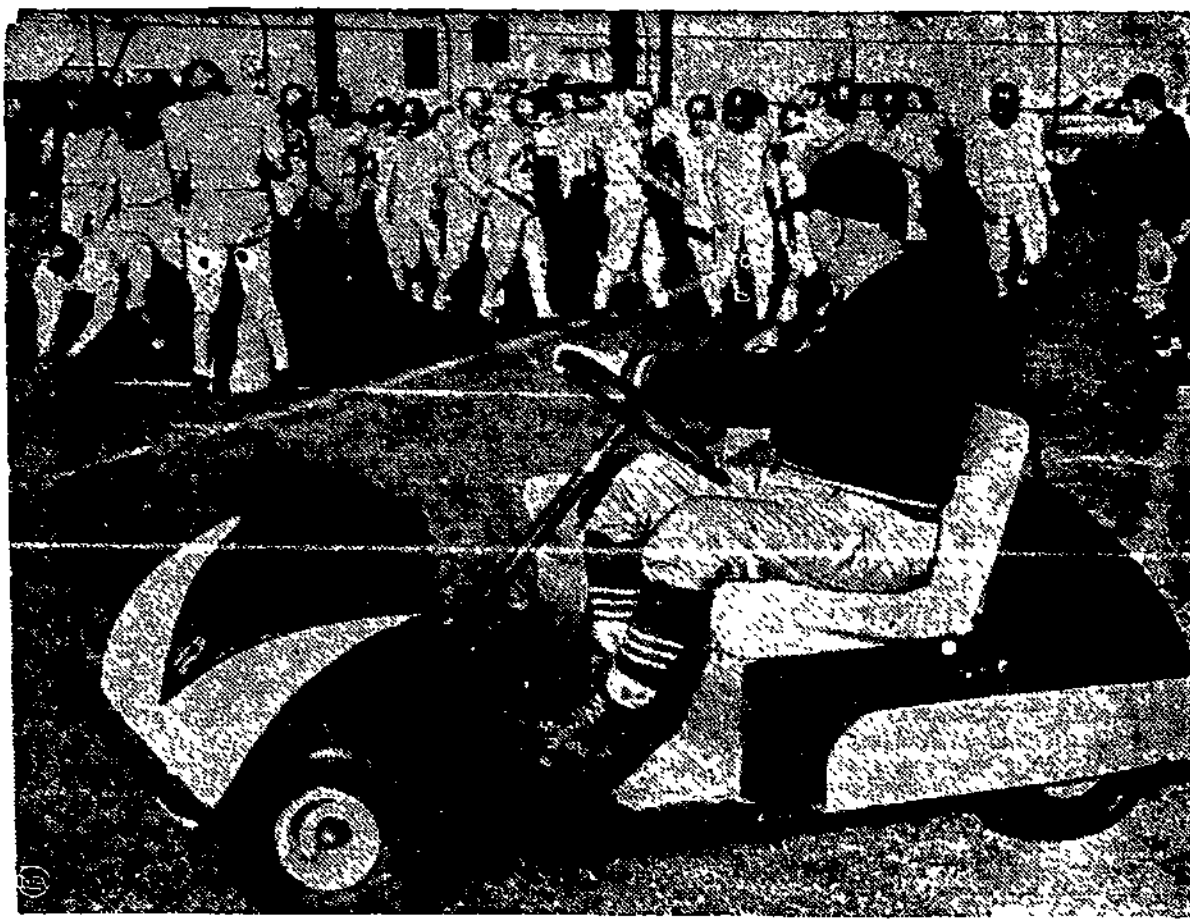

CENTER GAZE AT SOMETHING IN THE BOAT!

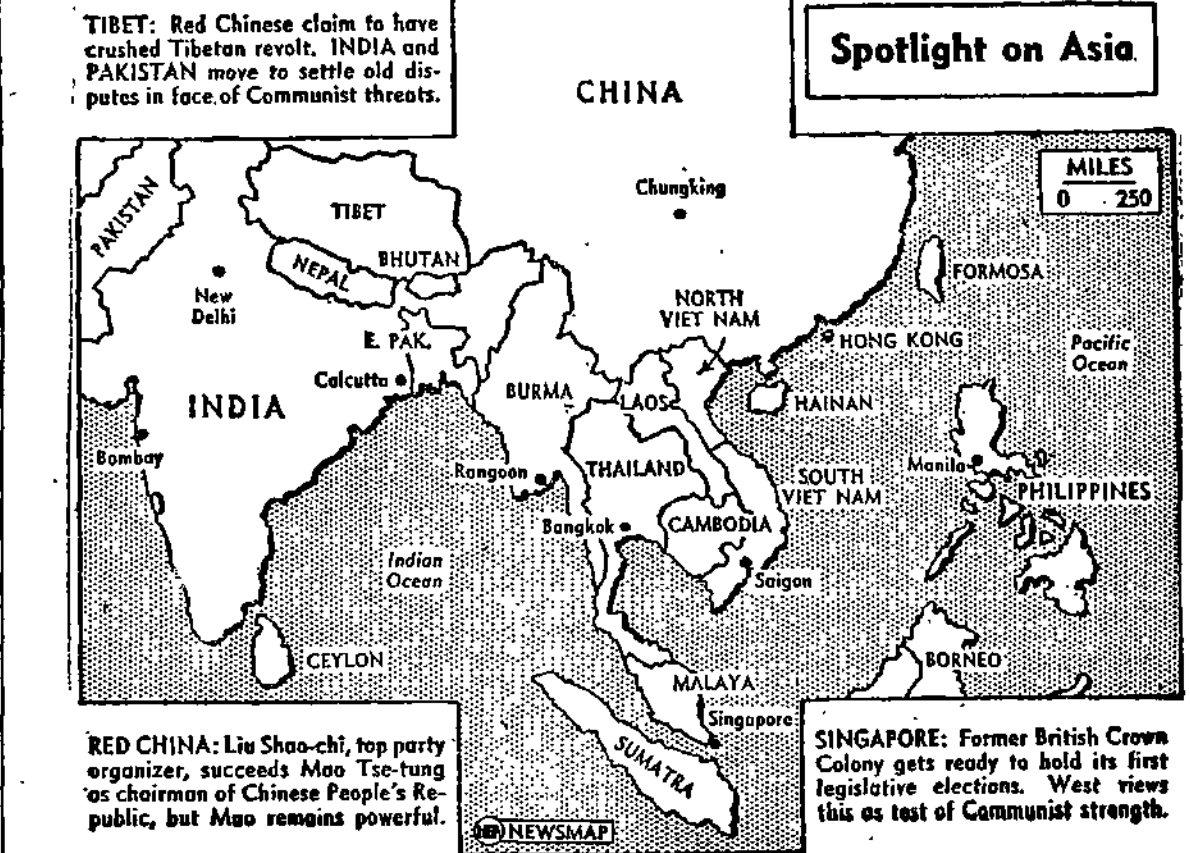

SEASICKNESS PLAQUES SOME SPORTSMEN SO THEY CANNOT ENJOY FISHING FROM A BOAT, OR MERELY SCOOTING, BUT IT CAN BE PREVENTED. IF "PRALAMINE" (AVAILABLE AT DRUGGISTS), TAKEN BEFORE EMBARKING, DOES NOT WORK, CONSULT PHYSICIAN. EAT SOLID FOODS WITH LITTLE OR NO LIQUIDS. MUNCHING ON CRACKERS OCCASIONALLY, IS ALSO RECOMMENDED. WATCHING WAVES MAY INDUCE SICKNESS, IF SO, FIX GAZE UPON STATIONARY OBJECTS IN BOAT. LASTLY, IMMUNITY CAN BE BUILT UP BY REPEATED EXPOSURES.

LOST HIS SCALP

The first American governor of New Mexico, Charles Bent, was killed and scalped by Taos Indians during the brief anti-American uprising in 1847.

Winning Essay on Student Visit to The Court House

Following is a copy of the winning essay in the contest sponsored by the Warren County Bar Association on the subject "My Impressions of the Court House Tour," written by George Slater, of Sheffield High School:

"My first impression of the courthouse as I walked in the door was one of mixed awe and uncertainty as to what to expect. This being my first real contact with the government, I felt as a person entering college must feel, knowing about college but not knowing for certain what, really goes on.

"As we entered the office of the Prothonotary, I was struck by its resemblance to a business office. I think I half expected a tall straight chair with a judge sitting in it and lesser clerks running about carrying out his orders. This impression stayed with me constantly the rest of the tour, this likeness to a busy office.

"Meeting Mr. Sires and Mr. Stewart, I found that they are very much alive and down to earth people. They don't use high-sounding language or try to put on an air of superiority and this impressed me very much. Having people like this working for you seems to impart to you the feeling that, just maybe, law is an interesting and practical thing and not a dusty old textbook of statutes. Throughout the tour these convictions were constantly strengthened.

"As we toured the building, visiting the offices of the County Commissioners, the Recorder of Deeds and Wills, the Sheriff's office and the County Election Office, we learned many new facts about the government; but these came as a secondary effect to me. The primary effect was one of actually seeing law in action before your own eyes. It gives you such a broader outlook than any classroom ever could. You soon realize that there is no substitute for actual experience.

"Entering the court room I sensed a feeling of solemnity. It wasn't stuffy imposed solemnity, but something from deep within which, it seemed, you could almost reach out and touch. It made me feel good inside. The room had a religious atmosphere about it. I can't seem to explain it, but I just felt it was there. It set me to thinking that law must be something like religion, 'based on morals and devotion to a cause.

"Meeting and talking with the judge proved to be very enlightening and educational. It dispelled most of my doubts and ignorances of just what happens in court. We learned some of the correct court procedures and many interesting facts about our laws.

"I left the courthouse with a much better understanding and knowledge of the functions of government; but also I realized that I finally had a clear concept of those principals for which our forefathers fought, and what they mean to us today. That our government, being so based on these fundamental rights of man, cannot fail in its purpose."

First Communion for 55 Young People at Holy Redeemer

Holy Redeemer Church was the scene of a First Communion Mass celebrated Saturday, May 2 at 8:30 by Father Joseph H. Seyboldt. The group embraced a total of fifty-five youngsters, thirty-three boys and twenty-two girls. This was the first class to be instructed for first communion by the Sisters of Divine Spirit: Sister Winifred, Divine Superior; Sister Mary Margaret, Sister Lorraine and Sister Colletta. Due to the extremely large number of first communicants, individual identification of those pictured was not possible. — Stokes Studio.

PLAYERS' SHOW IS GIVEN HAND
What was described as the most responsive first night audience in several years greeted the Warren Players' Club production of "The Desk Set" last evening. Comments today indicate the delightful comedy moved swiftly and smoothly, with mirth-provoking situations that brought forth laughter and provoked those in attendance to accord the cast several rousing curtain calls. The play repeats this evening at 8:30 in the Woman's Club auditorium and there are still seats available.

A former resident of Sheffield, living where Lincoln School Annex now stands, Mrs. Schultz is survived by her husband, a son and a daughter.

AN HONORARY DEGREE

An honorary degree of doctor of laws will be conferred upon Rear Admiral Denys W. Knoll, Erie's ranking naval officer, at commencement exercises to be held by Gannon College on Memorial Day, May 30. Admiral Knolls was principal speaker at the Warren Jaycee's Annual Bosses Night affair this year, and also has many acquaintances in the community.

BIG INVENTORIES

Spokesmen for manufacturing plants in Corry yesterday indicated that a strike by the United Steelworkers Union would not affect operations unless the stoppage was a long one. Plants began stockpiling steel months ago to guard against the possibility of a walkout and have about a 90-day supply on hand.

EMPLOYMENT RISES

More job placements were made in April than in any month since the summer of 1957, James Roseberry, manager of the Pennsylvania Employment Service office in Corry, announced yesterday. Claims for unemployment declined during the month although seasonally adjusted unemployment is still high for this time of year, he added.

CHAIN REACTION

Nearly $1,300 damage resulted in Franklin early yesterday morning in an accident involving five cars, four of them parked. A new sedan driven by Richard W. Robbins of Franklin crashed into a parked car. It in turn smashed into another, and two more parked cars were quickly involved. The car in the middle got it the worst, receiving $850 worth of damage.
